

I travel a fair amount and appreciate being able to listen to the radio consistently without having to adjust stations every time I am out of range. Local coverage is good and is immediately available; I do not have to wait the 10 or 15 minutes for the next round of reports. Also, even when I am out of range of the local stations I can find out what is happening "back home."